

OFFERS TO PICK WINNER IN ALL U. S. ELECTIONS

Miss Laurel Miller Says Correct Outline of Future Is in Astrological Charts.

By JOHN GOLDSTROM, Universal Service.

While the Republican and Democratic National Committees are quibbling on the anxious seat over the coming Congressional elections, Miss Laurel Miller, astro-mathematician, is in the capital with a challenge to forecast each and every individual result.

All Miss Miller wants is the year, month, day, and hour of each Congressman's birth, and by means of her astrological charts she will relieve his anxiety—or increase it—before election day, she declared today.

"That will be perfectly simple," she said.

Miss Miller, who is secretary of the Astrological Society, Inc., of New York, says her charts predicted the rail strike. All she wants is the date on President Harding's birth and she will forecast the President's course in the present industrial crisis and will forecast its outcome.

Here To Check Up.

Miss Miller says she is here primarily to use the Naval Observatory to check up on her discovery of two new stars and her belief that there are twelve planets instead of seven—one for each sign of the Zodiac. If the naval astronomers do not agree with her she says she is right anyway; she has not seen them but they must be there, because her astro-mathematical charts say they are.

Through mental influences from one of the new stars, which she has named Tasmu, women are eventually going to run the world. It takes Tasmu 200 years to whirl around the Zodiac, so the astronomers can figure out from that how far it is from earth. The other star is named Elarja, and it is from there that we get our troubles—war, coal strikes, Congressional elections and the like.

"It has been revealed to me," said Miss Miller, "that on a distant and enormous orb, called by its inhabitants Tasmu, there dwells a race of gods—beings who have accomplished perfection in the flesh—or consciousness on all the planes possible to mind.

"There the duffer is the exception, rather than the rule, and our greatest genius on this planet would be but a poor duffer there. These Tasmuan souls, so I have been given to understand, are being transmigrated into bodies on our earth at the present time, and will in time become the next race of human beings on earth. We will, therefore, borrow some of the Tasmuan greatness of mind and adeptness will be prevalent among men."

Young and Attractive.

Miss Miller, who is young and brunette, apparently in her twenties, has eyes like that. Today she wore a brilliant red gown decorated with what appeared to be a representation of the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse chasing one another around her shoulders.

In the Tasmuan age, said Miss Miller, "women will come to the front as they have never done before because the Tasmuans are women worshippers, one may say. They let the women lead in all matters and their influence will be very noticeable on earth in this regard.

"There will be women statesmen, politicians, financiers and business leaders, and in general filling all

Strike Threats Drive Gamblers Away At Deauville

BASIL D. WOON., Universal Service.

PARIS, Aug. 30.—Spendthrift gamblers and tourists are stampeding away from Deauville.

Following threats from strikers at Havre, where three killings have occurred during riots, that they will invade the "insolently plutocratic" Deauville, just across the bay, trains from the resort for Paris are crowded to capacity by those anxious to get away from the danger zone.

Guarded automobiles containing strong boxes with jewels worth fabulous sums are speeding from the beach by night. While the Casino three days ago was packed with gamblers, it is now almost deserted.

The important positions hitherto arrogated by the men. In time the men will find themselves taking back seats watching the women run the whole show. Miss Miller has also discovered five additional senses: "Intuition, perception, reason, interior hearing and acquiescence."

SON FINDS FATHER AFTER SEARCH FOR 19 YEARS

MONTREAL, Aug. 30.—Bernard Leveque, of New York, ended a nineteen-year quest in a Montreal Hotel last night when he was reunited with his father, who left him in an orphanage.

A thirty-two-year-old photograph was the only clue the son had, his memory failing to picture his father as he had last seen him.

When they met the son failed to recognize the gray-haired man. But the father saw his boy in the stalwart man before him and with a glad cry swept the other into his arms.

HUGHES FIRST TO SEND MIAMI CABLE MESSAGE

The first message to be transmitted over the newly-opened Miami-Barbados cable was one from Secretary of State to the minister of foreign affairs of Brazil at Rio de Janeiro, expressing gratification for the opening of the cable thus linking the two countries closer together.

The message, which was sent through the courtesy of the Western Union Telegraph Company, was transmitted by radio from the steamship Pan-America, now en route to the Brazilian exposition at Rio, to the State Department. It was sent over the Miami cable at 9:30 a. m. today.

EMPTY COAL BINS MAY SHUT BROADWAY THEATERS

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—New York faces a theaterless fall and winter unless the coal strike is settled soon.

Ralph W. Long, superintendent of supplies of the Shubert theaters, made this prediction. He estimated that not a single theater's coal bin will hold out after November 1, and he expects every theater in the city to be closed by that time.

Since 25 per cent of the theaters have no coal at all, he said, they will be forced to close with the first cold wave.

CHILDREN OPEN FIGHT ON MILLION-DOLLAR WILL

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 30.—A contest of the will of the late Mrs. Teresa Bell, wherein she disclaimed parentage of the five Bell children and cut them off from her million-dollar estate with bequests of $5 each was filed here yesterday.

Mrs. Muriel Bell Hoster, of Hollister, Cal., in her petition, which was filed in Superior Court, alleged Mrs. Bell was insane. Mrs. Bell left the bulk of her estate to charity and the State of California.
